

I have been a ham for 2 years. I took up the hobby to spend some quality time with my 82 year old father. We have a lot of fun together working on the HF bands. Two of my children have also earned licenses. Please do not destroy our new hobby. There are other alternatives to deliver broadband internet services. There is no replacement for weak signal HF propagation in the atmosphere. I understand this technology has been rejected in Japan. I pray for the same result here in the U.S. also.